List of specific record(s):

In the 1990s, the Port Authority assisted the Metropolitan Transportation Authority MTA with its capital program, specifically pertaining to bus and commuter railcar procurement programs, where the PANYNJ would purchase cars and buses and then lease them back to the MTA. In its budget released last week, the MTA said it hoped to re-ignite a similar plan, with the PANYNJ purchasing buses and leasing them to the MTA in the next few years. I would like copies of any internal emails, documents or notes taken over the last year pertaining to bus or railcar procurement programs with the MTA, including buying 496 new buses and leasing them to the MTA, as well as any logs of emails or conversations externally between the Port Authority and the MTA about doing so. I would prefer digital copies when possible, and would be happy to speak with someone from your office to discuss my request in greater detail. Best, Marc
