

One World Trade To Welcome First Tenant On Monday

"One World Trade Center" welcomes its first tenant on Monday, marking a major milestone in the rebuilding of Lower Manhattan.

Publishing giant Conde Nast will begin moving to the tallest building in America.

The company will occupy 1.1 million square feet of the 104-story skyscraper.

An official ceremony to mark the opening of the building is expected later in November.

About 2,300 workers will arrive in phases during the next three months.
