

Steel From World Trade Center To Be Presented To Madison Merchant

New York City firefighters to visit

On Monday, April 13, representatives from the Stephen Siller Tunnel to Towers Foundation, an organization begun in memory of a fallen 9/11 firefighter, will pay a special visit to Bradley Cramer, owner of Cramers Carpet One Floor and Home at 73 Main St. in Madison, to personally thank him for his generous support of the Foundation's Building for America's Bravest (BFAB) program.

'Smart Homes'

The BFAB program builds hi-tech "smart homes" for service members returning from war who have been catastrophically injured.

Carpet One Floor and Home, and its manufacturing partner Mohawk, have committed to providing flooring materials and installation for 46 of these "smart homes." Each store's customers are invited to share information about the program with others, and make a personal contribution at the store site. The goal is to collect a donation of $10, or more, from each customer, to ultimately enable the building of at least two more "smart homes."

In recognition of that support, on Monday, April 13, members of the Fire Department of New York City, acting on their own initiative as ambassadors of the Tunnel to Towers Foundation, will present a specially-designed shadowbox containing hallowed 9/11 steel from Ground Zero to Bradley Cramer.

'Humbled'

"We are truly humbled and honored that the Tunnel to Towers Foundation and members of the Fire Department of New York City — who were actually at Ground Zero on 9/11 and during its aftermath — are traveling all the way from their home base to visit us and express their gratitude to us," Cramer said.

"In fact, we are the ones who are thankful to them for their dedication and service. That is why we are so thrilled to be part of this impactful program that helps military heroes who have sustained the most devastating injuries."

The Stephen Siller Tunnel to Towers Foundation, named in honor of New York fallen Firefighter Stephen Siller, and best known for its annual Tunnel to Towers Run at Ground Zero in New York City, is committed to building specially-adapted "smart homes" for the most seriously wounded U.S. service personnel through its Building for America's Bravest program.
